Red Tape Reduced For Small Gold Producer

Following telegraphic communications and an invitation from Congressman Harry L. Englebright, J. G. Harlan, one of the legal advisers of the Treasury Department, came out to San Francisco to confer with Mr. Englebright, officials of the Mint, the Federal Reserve Bank and other interested persons, regarding modification of the regulation governing the purchase and sale of gold.

Returning from this conference Wednesday Mr. Englebright announced that the following changes had been made in the rules:

That in the sale of gold in amounts less than 2 ounces it is not necessary for the report of the seller to be accompared by an affidavit.

It has been estimated that there are 15,000 persons in California engaged in prospecting, and working quartz and gravel claims. The larger per cent of these, by far, are small producers. According to the reports of the state mineralogist offices 26,000 purchases of gold had been made up to August 15 in the state. The majority of these were in accounts of less than $2 and some for as low as 10c. Then, too, many of the gold buyers are located in country stores where the gold is exchanged for groceries. In these places the services of a notary are not available. The report, which has been greatly simplified, must still be made out by the seller and signed.

In the case of larger producers only one affidavit is necessary, instead of four as formerly. The banks do not make any further affidavit.

Arrangements were made to have the mint in San Francisco notify the Federal Reserve Bank of New York direct when they are holding gold for sale instead of it going through the Federal Reserve Bank in San Francisco. This means a saving of 4 days.

The matter of simplifying the sale of gold when handled by the banks were taken up also.

There are still a number of minor changes to be made and it is expected that the form of the report will again be simplified.

Among those attending the meeting was State Mineralogist Walter Bradley who has taken a great deal of interest in the small producer.

PREMIER WILL SINK SHAFT TO 300 LEVEL

The Grass Valley Premier gold mine, in the Newtown district, has installed a 60 gallon per minute compressed air pump, operated from a Diesel engine, that is rapidly dewatering their 137 foot shaft of a heavy flow of water encountered.

A new 310 cubic foot Diesel air compressor has been purchased by the company and will be set up near the present 210 cubic foot compressor unit. A Diesel-electric power unit will be installed later to furnish power for the hoist, pumps, ventilators and lights.

Plans of the company are to continue sinking the shaft to a depth of 300 feet when an enlargement of the shaft will be made.

Drilling operations were resumed in a drift on the 137 foot level the latter part of this week.

A vein ranging from eight to ten feet in width on the 137 foot level, assaying $49 per ton, was being worked when the heavy flow of water was encountered.

CAPT. NIHEL CONTRACTOR FOR EAGLE BIRD MINE

Capt. George Nihel, mining man of Nevada City, has the contract for the erection of the headframe at the Eagle Bird mine near Washington, on the South Yuba.

A 500 foot shaft is to be sunk on the ledge to determine the values at depth.

J. W. Still is superintendent. An Arizona corporation is developing the property.

QUEEN HITS ANOTHER POCKET OF NUGGETS

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Davidson were in Nevada City from their mining property, The Queen, on the Middle Yuba river, Tuesday.

Mr. Davidson has just opened up another beautiful pocket of gold nuggets and came in to make a shipment.

He has been working the property for the last two years and has run a 150 foot tunnel and is now sinking a winze which is down 20 feet.

The new gold regulations have helped Mr. Davidson in making sales of his larger nuggets in Nevada City.

GOOD ORE FOUND IN BLACK BEAR

The Black Bear mine in the Rough and Ready district, now owned by the Cooley Butler interests of Los Angeles, was reopened two weeks ago with a small crew under Superintendent L. S. Wincapaw. Work is being done in the old Schroeder tunnel and reports are that they have entered good paying ore.

While the Empress and Premier mines in the Rough and Ready and nearby Newtown sections are employing a large number of men, several new properties are opening up within the last few months.

Charles Gyp is in charge of eight men at the Bunker Hill mine, which is being reopened by a Nevada state company.

John Fontz of Grass Valley is working six men at the Mistletoe property reopening the rehabilitating the mine. C. E. LaBoyteaux is in charge of the property.

Eight men are employed in the Glass Eye mine, also located in the Rough and Ready district.

L. W. Williams and a small crew are sinking a shaft on the Ross ranch north of the Empress and Premier mines.

RICH STRIKE ON DEEP LEVEL IN NORTH STAR

A rich strike on one of the deeper levels of the North Star mine, south of Grass Valley city limits, was confirmed last week.

A ledge of excellent ore on that level has been drifted on for some 250 feet showing good values all the way through.

This property has been in operation for about 75 years and still has a large force of men employed as well as leasers working on different levels throughout the mine.

MORE IMPROVEMENTS FOR BROAD STREET

Broad street is gradually taking on an inviting air of prosperity. G. Hitchin's improved store front, with large plate glass windows and a tiled wainscoting is now completed. The new modern windows of Dickerman's drug store are now being adorned with the firms name in gold lettering. The artist is Ernest Carnes, the same painter who lettered the windows of the Nevada City Nugget a short time ago.

MACHINERY ARRIVES FOR BLUE POINT MINE

A carload of machinery arrived in Marysville this week from the state of Utah for the Blue Point gravel mine at Smartsville.

The company will build a trestle, erect a headframe and install a mill in order to work the vast old hydraulic property by running a drift into the most promising section.

The Blue Point Gravel Mining Company is a subsidiary of the Tintic Standard of Utah.

Milton Paine, a nephew of Lon Paine of Nevada City, is superintendent. Six men are employed at the property.

Mrs. Joe Tredennick of Town Talk was taken to the Jones Memorial hospital this week for treatment.

Quadruplets Go to College

Rejecting offers to go on the stage, the 18-year-old Keys sisters of Hollis, Okla., shown above, have elected to enter college, at Baylor University, Waco, Tex. These normal, healthy girls are said to be the only living quadruplets ever to reach maturity. Left to right, they are: Roberta, Mary, Leota and Mona Keys.

SPORTSMEN BAG MULE TAIL DEER

Well boys here is something for the deer hunters to shoot at. We have all heard numerous deer stories and no doubt most of them are true, but it is seldom that any of the boys come home with 215 pounds of meat in one "chunk" with the horns sticking right on the top side where they belong.

Last Saturday, Dave Richards, one of the proprietors of the Keystone Market with John Tognarelli, Frank Brophy, Norman Wells, Harvey Ike and Raymond Arbogast, took a notion that life was rather dull and a good deer hunt was in order; So-o-o they cranked up the old "buzz wagon" loaded on the extra's and headed for Modoc County, the home of the Mule deer. They went up by way of Red Bluff over Burney mountain into Modoc county and over the Oregon line, which, by the way, is some trip. But not having much luck on the Oregon side decided to come back to dear old California and see if they could not find a few fresh tracks or something that they could shoot at.

On Tuesday morning the boys went out with grim determination sticking out all over them. Rifles all loaded and everything—and as a result a big four point mule deer weighing 215 pounds was brought down. This is without doubt the biggest kill so far this season.

The party returned home yesterday morning bringing home enough meat to last the Keystone Market for quite some time. This specimen now hangs at the Market on Commercial street, and the writer thought at first that the father of all the deer in Modoc county was no more. But Dave Richards says "Oh that's nothing", we killed him in self defense. Next time we go out we will bring the rest of the mule deer family home."

GEORGE CALANAN ELECTED HEAD OF THE SKI CLUB

A well attended meeting Wednesday evening in the local chamber of commerce rooms, George Calanan was elected president of the Nevada City-Grass Valley Ski Course for the coming year.

Other officers elected were: Maurice Kach of Grass Valley, vice president; George R. Carter, treasurer; W. H. Griffiths, secretary.

The president will appoint the executive committee and the board of directors.

A meeting is to be held this coming week at which time the program will be started.

SPANISH MINES 2 MILE TRAMWAY SOON READY

The two mile tramway at the Spanish mine above Washington, is practically completed and will soon be ready for use.

The mill is running steadily on good ore and reports were that they had a crew of 35 men employed.

More lumber has been ordered this week for the upkeep of a number of improvements made this spring.

Herbert M. Cooper, of the P. G. & E., and daughter, Mrs. W. Hughes, of Auburn, were Nevada City visitors Wednesday. Herb seems to be holding his weight pretty good considering his strenous duties.

NEVADA CITY TO BATTLE OROVILLE GRIDDERS

(By CUB REPORTER)

Coach Bev Barron has completed arrangements for the Nevada City-Oroville football game. The game will be at Oroville and will start at ten o'clock, the team leaving Nevada City at seven o'clock in private cars. The starting line-up will be as follows:

Left Guard, Jean Thomas.
Center, Roman Rozynski.
Right Guard, Mervin Doolittle.
Tackle, Fred Browning.
End, Gove Celio.
Quarterback, Bob Tamblyn.
Left Half, T. Joyal.
Right Half, Tom Doyle.
Full Back, Ralph Pierce.

Reserves: Murray Young, Nat Robins, Harold Foeter, Dick Marriott, E. Chatfield, Lacey Jones, Allen Widauf, Carl Tobiasson, Merle Coulter.

Coach Barron says that the prospects of winning the game are as a whole, good, although Don Budi will not be able to play, because of a fractured thumb. Santinelli will also be unable to play. The boys have been working hard in practise ,and with their actual experience gained in the Placerville game, should be able to come through in good style.

PETITION WOULD CHANGE HIGHWAY STREET LINKS

A petition was presented to the city council last evening by a group of citizens consisting of Gove Celio, Charles W. Leiter, and Chester Scheemer, asking the council to designate to the State Highway Commission Sacramento street instead of Pine street as the state highway link which the commission proposes to take over.

The petition was signed by more than a score of business men. In presenting the petition Mr. Celio called attention to the fact that by routing the highway over Sacramento street and up Broad street, all business firms would be equally benefited by the flow of traffic.

Mayor Bennetts pointed out that the petition granted the city would be put to the expense of maintaining the Gault bridge which he declared would soon need refloring and reinforcing, if not rebuilding.

Celio declared that he had certain knowledge that the highway commission would not build a new bridge there.

The council produced a letter from the State Highway Commission in which the commission had asked the city to designate Pine street as the more direct route in line with the state highway, and the other streets including York, Washington and the upper part of Nevada street on the Ukiah-Tahoe route, and Broad st., from Pine to the point where it turns into the Downieville highway entrance.

Charles Leiter asked if the city council had yet so designated the streets, and on learning that if had not, requested a week's time before the council made its final answer. This request was granted.

Horace Curnow appeared before the board with a proposal for accident insurance for the firemen, which he stated. they preferred to

U. S. Hearing Called On Yuba Dam Project

The Committee on Rivers and Harbors, United States House of Representatives, has adopted the following resolution:

"Resolved By The Committee On Rivers And Harbors Of The House Of Representatives, United States, That the Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors created under Section 3 of the River and Harbor Act, approved June 13, 1902, be, and is hereby, requested to review the reports on Sacramento River, California, submitted April 20, 1928, and the reports previously submitted on the subject of " Debris Control," with a view to determining if it is advisable to prosecute any work of debris control on the tributaries of the Sacramento River at this time, particularly with reference to the proposed dam at the Narrows in Yuba River."

The duty of making the report called for has been delegated to U. S. Engineer's office in Sacramento, and the matter will be considered at a public hearing, to be held in the Director's Room, Chamber of Commerce Bldg., 917 7th st., Sacramento, California, at 11:00 o'clock a. m., on October 25. The hearing is to be held for the purpose of developing the necessary facts upon which to base recommendation to the Department.

All interested parties are invited to be present or to be represented at the above time and place. They will be given an opportunity to fully express their views upon the subject under consideration.

Oral statements will be heard. but for accuracy of record all important facts and arguments should be submitted in writing, as the records of the hearing will be forwarded for consideration by the Department at Washington.

C. C. C. CAMPS TO ENROLL BUT 2853

By J. F. McLAUGHLAN

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 5—(UP)—Careful selection appears the watchword for California county registration agents for C. C. C., as enrollment for the second "enlistment" period became general throughout the state today.

Only 2,853 enrollies will be taken this period, contrasting with the 11,500 in the quota of the original enrollment. The new enrollies will be in the nature of replacement units, R. C. Brannion, director of state emergency relief, said.

At the same Brannion announced county quotas, he announced county registration agents and their addresses. In Nevada county the quota is eight and the registration agent is A. V. McGagin, Court House, Nevada City, California.

Brannion said there were several times as many trying to get into the camps as there are openings, which will preclude registration of any but the most needy cases.

California's quota is expected to be filled by October 10 or 11.

One result of the first period of the enrollment reflects highly in California's favor, according to state emergency relief officials. Approximately 25 per cent of the Californians left the C. C. C. camps atthe end of the first enlistment compared with figures as high as 55 per cent for some of the midwestern camps, reflecting the satisfactory conditions in California camps.

Another point remarked by the officials was that more than 50 per cent of the Californians are sending $25 to their families by allotment instead of the $20 minimum in the first period. For the second period a minimum of $22 must be allotted the family, Brannion said.

County quotas for the new enlistment hae been figured on a population basis, the same as were the original enlistment quotas.

Los Angeles leads the list with a new quota of 1,070, and Alpine contrasts with none, whateer. Mono county can send only one man to camp.

NEW FURNITURE STORE IS NEWLY DECORATED

The Bosworth Furniture Company, which has leased a store at the corner of Commercial and Pine streets, has just finished a fine job of renovating and remodeling and are now open for business.

A formal opening is being planned as soon as a larger stock now enroute arrives, the date of which will be announced in the Nugget.

Mr. and Mrs. Bosworth will make their home in this city and they will be a welcome addition to this growing community.

JULY PEAK FOR DRUNKEN DRIVING

By THOMAS B. MALARKEY

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 5—(UP)—Proudest of all boasts of the state highway patrol is its record of cutting down the motor vehicle accident rate.

But there's one problem in this connection they haven't yet been able to solve—the keen thirst of some California drivers during the month of July.

During the seven month period ending July 31, state highway patrolmen made 68 accident investigations in Nevada county.

Statistics reveal, according to E. Raymond Cato, chief of the state highway patrol, that during the hot summer month of July, arrests for drunken driving increase sharply. Just why this should be so, has not been determined.

Perhaps heat adds an extra kick to intoxicants; or maybe thousands of vacationists are inclined to celebrate their respective holidays by indulging in drinks. It can't be blamed on 3.2 beer. For the sharp July increase has occured in past years.

Whatever the cause, every informed highway patrolmen knows he will probably be a busy man running down drunken drivers during the seventh month of each year.

"Coincident with a marked decrease in motor vehicle accidents and accidental deaths on our highways," Cato commented, "there is one item of increased activity. That is the 33 per cent increase for arrests on drunken driving in July of this year.

"This must not be taken as being caused by the legalizing of beer. In fact it is a seasonal increase as July, 1932 showed an increase over June of the same year of 44 per cent, while the same month in 1933 increased only 33 per cent.

"In further analyzing, we find that July 1933 drunken driving arrests decreased 26.40 per cent under the July, 1932.

George and Andrew Carey and their nephew, Will Roberts, went up to their mining property on Mount Oro early this week. Carey Bros. expect to spend about two months on their property working on their log cabin and doing some work on their ground.

DINNER COOLED BUT BUSINESS IS BUSINESS

O. D. Woodman, Nevada City realtor, is a hard worked man. Wednesday night he went home for dinner. He had barely sat down to the table when a business man from Sacramento called and demanded to know where he could find a location for a certain kind of business. He sent this man on his way happy, when another person called and wanted to secure a location for another business. He had started back toward his cooling meal, when a third person called and wanted to buy a home. When he finally sat down at 8:30 p. m. his appetite was almost gone and his dinner was very, very cold.

PROTECTING NATURAL RESOURCES

Dozens of notable public and private careers in our history have been dedicated to the principle of conservation of national resources. Greeley and Grady and Watterson and other great editors thundered anathma at many administrations for neglect of the riches with which nature has endowed the country. More than one Cabinet crisis resulted from determined attempts to safeguard the Nation's mineral and timber supplies.

It remained for the National Recovery Act to bring about this fundamental economic reform. In a manner that to one unfamiliar with the high purposes of our President, the accomplishment may have seemed almost incidental. Yet, like child labor and swea shops and racketeering and other obnoxious evils, protection of public wealth in the President's mind is a major matter and he gave it immediate concern.

As the 300,000 young men in 1,500 forest camps are engaged in scientific preservation of timber on government reserves, so there is now mandatory provisions in the code of fair competition of the lumber industry whicch definitely lines up the owners of all private forests in the United States behind the fixed policy of forest conservation. Secretary of Agriculture Wallace said of this code provision: "It strikes at the heart of the problem of forest depletion by destructive lumbering."

Five millions is being spent in checking soil erosion to provide for reforestation. Destruction of forests by fire, plant disease, and insect pests is being fought by the Civilian Con servation Corps. Under the operation of the codes of the oil and coal industries already there is assurance that there will no longer be waste, so recently wanton, of those irreparable resources. These seemingly secondardy phases of the national recovery program will restore incalculable national wealth and re-create confidence in the efficacy of government.

PROFITABLE READING

"Our lives are shaped in no small degree by what we read," says Professor Leon J. Richardson, director of the Extension Division of the University of California.

"Some read too little, some too much. Mental nurture is not unlike the nourishment of the body; too little food hampers growth, while too much makes one sluggish. A mind untrained by reading is an unfurnished flat; whereas heaping up poor matter clutters the mental house. Read, therefore, what you can assimilate, what is worth while, what you are genuinely interested in.

"You strive to promote your work and enrich your life. Read, therefore, systematically where information and knowledge must be gathered, but as the spirit prompts when you would be lifted to the heights. Read now for practical ends, as when a workaday problem has to be solved, now with the same motive that makes you cast yourself down a hillside to contemplate a sunset. Read prose and poetry.

"The inventors of the alphabet could little have foreseen the old uses to which their signs and symbols would some day be put; how a man might read to take his mind off a mortgage to make a journey seem shorter, to kill ennui, to rest the mind after an emotional storm, or to lull himself to sleep at night. If you would develop powers and abilities, read not often merely to pass the time, for listless reading breeds a poor memory.

Do not limit your reading to one field, as does the person whose sole passion is to devour fiction. Such an unbalanced diet is morbiferous. One has to wrest the truth from some authors; or become a detective to capture the meaning of others. Be not always satisfied with the first gleaning of a volume. Great books especially must be read again and again if one is to uncover their deepest veins of thought. Reflect on what you read, recall from time to time the books that seem to you especially significant, discuss their import, be critical and draw conclusions. So will you bring great ideas to bear upon your own life."

DOWNIEVILLE MINING ACTIVITY INCREASES

Reports from Downieville are to the effect that New York capital is being invested in the Telegraph mine. It is expected that within a short time this property will be reopened and continue to operate through the winter.

The Wide Awake mine, which has had a crew of five or six men employed all summer has just closed down.

The Indian Hill mine, south of Downieville, is to open later this season or as soon as enough rain has fallen to permit the company to sluice the gravel.

L. Donner has just completed building a road to the mine of John Costa and it is expected that with easier access to the property it will soon be in operation.

Congressman Harry E. Englebright returned Wednesday from a business trip to San Francisco and Sacramento.

KEEP TRYING

I can't do this and I can't do that,
So what is the use of trying?
The task is hard and the way is long,
And the whole world's filled with sighing.

But a new day smiled thru the mists of dawn
And kindled my hopes anew;
And a lark sang clear in a meadow near,
"There is nothing you cannot do!"

"Think of my task," said the dragon fly,
On her gossamer wings of blue,
"I came from the depths of a slimy pool—
There is nothing you cannot do!"

A creeping worm near a garden wall,
With its patience rebuked my sighing;
"I go," it said, "on my weary way,
But soon I'll be flying—flying!"

A wild rose whispered the message true,
From its glowing heart of gold;
It was taken up by a summer breeze,
And unto the wide world told.

The sun and the moon and the morning stars
Sang the wonderful theme anew,
Till the whole world echoed the glad refrain,
"There is nothing you cannot do!"

I can do this and I can do that,
And hope to my heart came flying;
The way is long and the task is hard;
But I'll win if I just keep trying!

A. MERRIAM CONNER.

MANY TO ENTER GOVERNOR RACE

By MELVIN LORD

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 2—(UP)—The law of supply and demand has nothing to do with gubernatorial candidates, and at no time in the history of the state has the potential supply been so great.

In glancing over the list it would appear that he Republicans are out after the Democratic toga of confusion.

For instance, it took Governor Rolph only a few minutes to jot down the names of 12 men who reportedly have their eyes on the capitol's corner office. And the governor has been sick and supposedly not in touch with things?

This is the governor's Republican list with his own parenthetical afterthoughts:

Lt. Governor Frank F. Merriam, State Treasurer Charles G. Johnson, (Johnson? I think I've heard before he was going to run); Senator Herbert C. Jones (he sponsored the still act); Rev. Robert Shuler; Former Governer Friend W. Richardson; Former Governor C. C. Young; Congressman Bill Traeger; former Congressman Joe Crail; Major Walter Tuller (they tell me he's the only man who can save the Republican party); Mark Requa; Fred E. Stewart ,member of the board of equalization. (He's pretty busy with the sales tax, isn't he?).

Rolph, vigorously asserting there was no reason why he should not run, refused to add his name to the list. In answer to an assertion by Assemblyman Charles Dempster of Los Angeles that "Rolph was finished in the south," the governor said he had "seen no indication I have lost the confidence of the people."

In the meantime actual campaign openings were few and far between. Senator Jones has done little since his formal announcement. Merriam is satisfied to make speeches on the intricasies of state government. Mr. Johnson is doing a lot of traveling, and an occasional news release indicates a "public relations counsel" in the background. Richards is silent, but Harvey Toy of San Francisco, who was chairman of Friend's highway commission, is beating the tom-tom.

If agitation of sales tax repeal continues a live question it will prove an important political issue. But the very fact that its repeal would result in a deficit of some $120,000,000 for the state and probably necessitate a state ad volorem tax and a high income tax in all brackets is likely to prove discouraging. State officials seem to think the grumbling gradually will die out.

The statement of Vierling Kersey, state superintendent of public instruction, that schools should keep out of politics has been well received. It might be difficult to follow this advice, say, in the event of a vote on sales tax repeal. Success of the repeal movement would mean that the state would have an immediate need of raising the $72,000,000 in annual school costs recently taken from the counties. The schools would not care for that. Too, it is likely that Senator Jones, long a friend of the educators in the legislature, might expect a little active support.

There has been every indication Governor Rolph will call a special election on the water plan referendum in the near future. Likely the call will be made before the initiative move against the sales tax can qualify.

HERBET JONES DRY CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR

By THOMAS B. MALARKEY

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 5—(UP)—Senator Herbert C. Jones of San Jose left political row gasping with amazement when he suddenly announced he would be a candidate for governor at the republican primaries.

Jones' move was unexpected. Before the primary campaign is concluded, it may have far reaching consequences. If Ex-Governor C. C. Young or Bert Meek, San Francisco, run for governor the progressive vite would be split.

The San Jose solon is a veteran of 11 sessions. He is known as an ardent progressive and yet, unlike many of his political kin, has been strongly dry.

For years, Jones has been a steadfast opponent of public utilities and a believer in public ownership. He considers utilities have superimposed holding companies and built up such an overlapping executive set-up that consumers pay exorbitantly. Just this last session he labored long but unsuccessfully to pass a law bringing the larger holding companies under railroad commission jurisdiction.

Never a believer in a sales tax from th estart, Jones led the senate fight for exemptions of foodstuffs and commodities. He voted "no" on the bill on final passage.

Unlike some other legislators who permitted the wet trend to change their views, Jones stood pat during the last session. For example, he voted against repeal of the Jones Still act (which he had authored) and was recorded voting "no" on the pari-mutuel horse racing bill wihch was later vetoed by the governor.

WANT BUFFALO PET? JUST CALL AT PARK

Billings, Mont., Oct. 5—(UP)—Anybody want a nice buffalo Thanksgiving dinner, or just to keep as a pet?

Yellowstone National Park Superintendent Roger W. Toll is ready to give away 150 buffalo and gladly will supply all takers. Ordinarily disposition of the animals would not be difficult, but Toll reported the demand this year appeared to be nil.

Some of the animals may be donated to Indians to furnish the nucleus of small reservation herds, it was said.

Frank Davies is spending a few days in Nevada City inspecting his apartments now being completed just above the Jackson Grocery store on Commercial street.

MANY SCOUTS TO GET EAGLE RANK

September was the last month that local Scouts could qualify for the rank of Life Scout in order to be able six months later to receive the badge of Eagle Scout, scoutings highest rating. From the Life applications so far received it appears there will be 12 or 15 Scouts to receive Eagle ratings at the annual rally in February 1934.

Another patrol camporee for Tahoe Scouts is planned for October, the time and place to be announced later. Plans and program as lined up for the spring camporee will be used. Patrols will demonstrate camping and cooking, using their own ideas as to equipment. This is in preparation for the future state camporees. A report of the recent one in San Francisco will be made as part of the campfir eprogram.

Each troop in the council is working to earn the President Franklin D. Roosevelt Streamer to be awarded for increased membership, recruiting new 12 year old boys and conducting regular, effective troop meetings. The slogan is, "One in Every Four New Male Citizens to be Four Year Scout Trained Men."

This fall the council plans to conduct training courses for scouts and adults in "Scoutmasters Training Courses," "Cub Leaders Training," and "A Den Chief Conference."

Last week-end found a party of five taking down the last of Camp Pahatsi tents and hauling snowshed timbers for construction purposes. Another party will continue the construction this coming week end. Of primary importance is the building of a boat house and ice house on the dock.

SNOW CAUSES SHIFT IN SCHOOL OPENING

CHESTERFIELD, Ida., Oct. 5—(UP)—School bells rang in Chesterfield, almost a month ahead of other districts, ending three months' holiday.

Heavy snows of midwinter usually make travel impossible in the Chesterfield district, South Dakota. S. D. Lowe, Bannock county school superintendent, said, in explaining the early call. For several weeks during the worst part of each winter school is forced to suspend because students cannot reach the institutions.

WOMAN FINDS SILENCE GOLDEN IN THIS CASE

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 2.—(UP)—It wasn't at all difficult to convince Mrs. Elizabeth Kunz, local resident, that "silence is golden."

Two burly negroes approached the car in which Mrs. Kunz sat, conversing with a woman friend. "Hand over your money and jewels," ordered one of the thugs, "and keep your mouth shut."

Mrs. Kunz obeyed the latter admonition wholeheartedly—and saved two valuable rings she had placed in her mouth when she saw the men headed towards the machine.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Yee, of the Yee and Yee Herb Co., of Grass Valley, are congratulating them on the birth of a fine baby boy. The youngster is named Franklin Leland Yee. He was born September 28.

MCGAGIN TO REPORT

A. W. McGagin, who has been enrolling men for the next C. C. C. camps has received word that the examination will be made about October 15th.

American Heroines

Tobey Riddle

AS IT was an Indian woman who aided the white man to gain his first foothold in this country, so another Indian woman, appropriately caled the "Pocahontas of the Lava Beds," befriended him against her own people over two and a half centuries later.

Winema, daughter of the Modocs, had married Frank Riddle, a white man, adopted his customs, learned his language, and taken the name of Tobey Riddle. Now the Modocs were a small and peace-loving tribe of the Pacific Northwest, whose doom was sealed by the increasing inroads of white settlers in Oregon and California. In 1772 fifty Modoc braves, with three times as many women and children, were entrenched in the lava beds near the border. In vain Gen. E. R. S. Canby attempted to treat with the enemy. He was under orders not to yield; they would not. At length, discouraged of gaining their ends, certain of the Modocs planned to murder the whites at their next parley. When their leader, Captain Jack, objected to such treachery, they threw a woman's hat and shawl on him, shaming him into consent.

Now Tobey Riddle and her husband were frequently called upon to act as interpreters between her people and his. Learning of the Modoc's plot, she straightway warned General Canby, pleading with him to call off the conference. But Canby had given his word to the red men. Five whites, unarmed, were to meet with the Modoc leaders under a flag of truce. True to his word, Canby went out unarmed to meet the Indians. With him were three other whites, two of whom bore hidden weapons, Tobey and her husband.

It was a tense conference. The Modocs again made their demands. Canby again refused. Then, at a given signal, the Modocs opened fire. Captain Jack's second shot felled the gallant Canby. Soon two more men were down, and Riddle and the fourth had taken to their heels. One of the fallen men was A. B. Meacham, former Indian agent and a friend of Tobey's. Seeing he was only wounded, she sprang to his defense. She was thrust aside by the butt of a rifle. Quick as thought she cried, "Soldiers are coming," and the Modocs fled.

Meacham was nursed back to health, the Modocs were eventually hunted down and their leaders hung, and Tobey, after many years as teacher and missionary to her own race, died in 1920, at the Klamath reservation in Oregon.

NOW is the time to make a Fall check-up on LIGHTING IN YOUR HOME

HOW LONG has it been since you made a real check-up on the light in your home?

Empty sockets need fresh new lamps. Burned-out lamps, lamp bulbs darkened with long use should be replaced with fresh new lamps.

Nothing adds more to comfort in the after-dinner hours in the Fall and Winter as a cheerfully lighted home. Nothing is so decorative and yet so inexpensive as electric light. Check-up, light up, and give tired eyes a chance to see better.

Light up for cheerfulness. Let light bring out the beauty of room furnishings. Add life to your living room by having at least one floor or table lamp that throws light upward to illuminate the whole room. This is the best lighting of all to read by, and adds to the hospitality your home expresses to your guests.

See the better lamps of today now being displayed in stores everywhere and in all offices of this company. Then you will know why one of these lamps gives better light to see by than three or four lamps which merely look nice when lighted. Ask about the Special Purchase Terms now in effect.

Hectic Days- Sleepless Nights

TOO MUCH work, too much mental strain, too much worry and then "NERVES". How they torture you, tire you, keep you wake nights!

"NERVES" make you irritable, restless; give you Headache, Indigestion.... "NERVES" make you look and feel old.... weaken resistance and pave the way for serious nervous or organic trouble.

J. M. Foster, a druggist, suffered tortures from Over-wrought Nerves. He had dozens of so called "Nerve Remedies" in his store. One by one he tried them without relief until.... But let Mr. Foster tell his experience in his own words

"I think Dr. Miles' Nervine is the best nerve medicine made, and that a better one cannot be made. Dr. Miles' Nervine was the only medicine on the shelf or in the prescription case that put me on my feet." J. M. Foster, Druggist Marysville, Ohio

Miss Thelma Christenson Weds John Key

The wedding of Thelma Christenson and John Key took place at the home of the bride, in Grass Valley, Sunday, October 1.

The bride was given away by her father. The beautiful white organdy gown worn over white satin with the white veil, enhanced the beauty of the young bride. The bouquet carried was composed of lillies of the valley and gardenias.

After the ceremony a wedding dinner was served. The happy young couple then set out for their honeymoon in San Francisco.

About sixty guests attended the wedding. Upon the return of the bride and groom, they will make their home in Grass Valley.

Form-Fit Frocks Feature Fall Fashions

NEW SKIRTS IMPART HIP SLIMNESS; FANCY SHOULDER, SLEEVE, NECKLINE TREATMENT FURNISHES COLOR

BY HARRIET

FROCKS that make you look tall and slender are the right ones to choose this fall.

If you're an exceedingly tall girl, you're a very lucky one. But if you aren't, don't despair! New fashions are designed to make you look tall, anyway.

Slimness through the hips and thighs is accomplished by straight, form-fitting skirts. They leave the glory, consisting of intricate shoulder treatments, unusual sleeves and ornate necklines, to the waists of these new dresses.

It stands to reason that if your shoulders are delicately emphasized, your hips are bound to seem more slender. And that same above-the-waistline emphasis gives the impression of greater height.

* * *

A SLIMLY tailored frock that definitely shows the new mode is of brown dinde, a lovely ribbed sheer fabric.

It has a high neckline encircled by a tiny round collar of beige lacquered satin.

The armholes are wide, allowing for plenty of comfort if you wear the dress to the office and the sleeves are set into the dress with two pleats right on top of the shoulder. The pleats stand up straight, looking very much like winged sleeves.

A bow of the beige satin is edged with the dress material. It slides through a loop which is placed at the junction of the ends of the round collar. Buttons of self material go right down the front of the form-fitting waist.

The skirt closely molds the hips and thighs and has an inverted pleat in front below the knees.

A little turban of the same fabric as the dress, trimmed with three bows, tops the ensemble.

A turban is flattering and is about the most practical type of hat a girl can have for everyday street wear.

A wine-colored frock that will take you right through the day in a well-groomed manner is fashioned of an uncut velvet with drawn work used in the loose bodice and on the sleeve just above the elbow.

The shoulder slopes and the sleeve treatment with the fullness around the elbow tapering to a tight wrist line are fine fashion features.

Belted at the normal waistline, the frock gracefully molds the hips and then flares just a little bit below them. A novelty metal buckle fastens the belt.

The antelope beret (same color as the frock) shades the right eye and has an amusing little quill placed high in front.

Miss Ardelle Holland Weds Jasper Brown

A wedding of interest to many Nevada City and Grass Valley people occurred last Sunday in Carson City, Nevada, when Miss Ardelle Holland, pretty and accomplished young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Holland of Grass Valley became the bride of Jasper Brown also of that city.

The bride was born and reared in Grass Valley where she is loved by all who know her.

The groom is a young man of sterling character employed in the Idaho Maryland mines.

They will live in a new home which Brown built recently.

Trinity Guild Outlines Plans for Year

The first meeting of the Episcopal Guild of Trinity Episcopal church, was held at the pretty home of Major and Mrs. Frank H. Chapman Wednesday afternoon.

At this business meeting plans were made for Guild affairs for the coming year.

After adjournment of the meeting a scoial time was enjoyed until tea was served.

Champion Circle Enjoys Social Evening

Champion Circle, Neighbors of Woodcraft, held a most enjoyable meeting last evening which was well attended.

Several hours were spent in playing cards and a happy social time. Refresments were served.

SHOPPING GOSSIP

Today, Nadine, we must take a look in some of the stores. I hear that they are getting in their new hats, coats, and sweaters and even though it is so hot just now we know that it won't be long until we will all have to invest in some of these things.

First of all I am going to have my hair cut at the Bargain Barber Shop. I find that the lady in charge does excellent work.

Isn't it hot out? Surely this will not last long this time of year. I believe that it would be a good idea for us to go in to the Anie Marie Beauty Parlor and have our permanents done before it gets any warmer. It will not be long now before one cannot purchase a permanent at so low a price. My hair feels and looks fine, she certainly does excellent work.

Oh, let's take a look at the new coats in Penny's. Here are the very best in styles at the lowest price. Do you know these coats are taken from the styles actually worn by the stars in Hollywood, and the pictures of them verify the statement. Here are coats exact in style with those worn by Genevieve Tobin, Evelyn Knapp, Loretta Young, and Bebe Daniels.

Aren't these new tweeds and fleeces beautiful? All are in the latest cut as to sleeves and general conteur. These fur trims in browns and blacks and mottled cloth are unusual and very lovely. There is certainly a variety to choose from.

Do you know, I know of no place in town where one can get more perfectly fitting large sizes, than in the Elizabeth's Dress Shop. They are in loevly collars too and in a variety of styles. Oh! yes, she carries the small sizes too, and her dressmaking is unexcelled. Be sure to take a look in everytime you go down town. She always has something new.

I want one of those Jars of Elmo Cleansing Cream at the Phoenix Drug Store. They are just perfect and they make your skin feel like velvet. They carry several complete lines of toiletries that are excellent.

Did you notice this sweater I have on? Well, Francis Botfield the Dressmaker, mended it for me and really you can't tell where it was mended, she did it so neatly. I am sure she must be an excellent Dressmaker too.

My goodness, there goes the twelve o'clock whistle and I must be home in ten minutes. I wish I had the whole day to look around. There are so many thing to see. Well, good bye, until next week I know of some keen things coming up then.

YOUTH

For a number of years now youth and all its advantages has been lauded to the skies, praised and approved in song and story; sounded from the radio and shown upon the screen. Advertising has pertained to the different features to perpetuate youth and retard old age, and age has sought in a thousand ways to age youth and youth in turn, seeing, hearing, and approving these laudations of itself has in a great measure ceased to show respect for advanced years.

Youth is and has always been a most desirable thing, but there is no denying that youth starting from the cradle is headed for old age and must suffer the disrespect of the younger generation, if they are not properly trained to see beauty in age and a desirability in the mellowing experience of the same. Wrinkles are but lines of character, and if one becomes familar with people, they speak a wonderous story of joy, of sorrow, of happiness and tribulations. Even a head of graying hair does not mean that the mentality with in has deteriorated, as so many young people are prone to think. Experience and training have but widened the outlook and many a person with an aging appearance carries the heart of youth. As we know we find youth in age and age in youth, for a "body is only as strong as its weakest link." Hence a body abused or diseased may be older than that of a person of twice or many times its years, who has guarded his body and made it a fit temple for the soul to live in.

Let us then teach our children from childhood, to respect age, as they themseves would like to be respected when the years have come upon them. Let us teach them to show courtesy to age in the little things and even if their opinions do not cooencide with that of their elders, to consider that they have their right to their point of view. Let us teach them to listen with consideration and to apply all that is good to their own lives. Let them remember that those growing old really enjoy hearing of their good times, their interests, and their sorrows.

In other words, let us teach our children to give age its pace in the sunlight, so their path may be bright as they travel toward the setting sun for they too must follow the same path e'er long.

Geary Geagans of Alleghany spent Sunday in Nevada City with his wife and daughter, Dorothy.

Mrs. Rockefeller of Gold Flat Entertains

Mrs. C. L. Rockefeller of Gold Flat, entertained the members of the Gold Flat Thursday Club yesterday afternoon.

The rooms were tastefully decorated with brilliant autumn flowers adding charm to the happy occasion.

After a most enjoyable social time dainty refreshments were served.

Miss Una Willoughby and Percival Bosanko Married

Percival Johns Bosanko and Miss Una Willoughby were last evening united in marriage at a quiet ceremony at the home of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Bosanko in South church street, Grass Valley. Only the immediate members of the two families witnessed the charming ceremony.

The ritual was read by the Rev. David Ralston of Oroville, a family friend of long standing. Following the ceremony a delightful wedding supper was served and late in the evening the happy pair departed for Santa Cruz and other coastal points where they will spend their honeymoon.

It was a double ring ceremony and the couple were married beneath a beautiful floral wedding bell. The house was adorned with masses of flowers in which gladiolas, chrysanthemums and ferns predominated. Many beautiful gifts were received and much admired by the wedding guests.

Both bride and bridegroom are graduates of the Grass Valley high school. Mr. Bosanko was born and reared in Grass Valley, while Mrs. Bosanko came to Grass Valley 12 years ago from Arizona with her parents.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attired in a lovely gown of yellow color and carried blue delphiniums and Gold of Ophr rose buds. She was attended by her sister, Mrs. Ralph Harris of Santa Cruz, who was matron of honor. She was gowned in gray and carried a spray bouquet of pink rose buds.

The best man was Edward Bosanko, elder brother of the bridegroom.

The bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Willoughby, and the bridegroom the youngest son of Mrs. Mary A. Bosanko and the late W. E. Bosanko of Grass Valley.

The bride was formerly a member of Bert's Drygoods staff, and the bridegroom is chief hydrographer for the Nevada County Irrigation district. They will make their home in Grass Valley and in the spring build a new residence on the Colfax road.

Set New U. S. Air Marks

Just 10 hours and five minutes after his plane left Los Angeles, Col. Roscoe Turner, above, landed at Floyd Bennett Field, New York, to set a new west-east transcontinental record. Turner's feat clipped 13 minutes from the previous record. Below is Richard C du Pont, 22, of Wilmington, Del., who set a new American gliding record of 122½ miles in a flight from Waynesboro, Va., to Frederick, Md. The previous mark was 66.9

FARM PRODUCTS GAIN 19.6 PCT. SINCE APRIL 1932

The general level of prices paid to California farmers for agricultural commodities in August 1933 was 67.6 per cent of the average maintained during the period from July 1919 to June 1915, and represented a gain of 19.6 per cent from the low point reached in April of this year, according to E. M. Rector, Vice President and Manager of the Nevada City branch of the Bank of America.

The index of prices received by farmers in the entire territory of the United States in August 1933 was 71.6 per cent of the July 1910-June 1915 average, a gain of 44.9 per cent over the low point in February, 1933.

"From 1910 to 1915, California farm prices were comparatively stable," Mr. Rector explained. "From 1915 to 1920 prices received for farm produce increased rapidly with prices in the United States as a whole preceding the rise in California farm prices.

"The peak for California farm prices was reached in March, 1920, when the index figure was 112 per cent higher than the 1901-1915 level. The United States index was highest in June, 1920, when the level was 132.6 per cent higher than the 1910-1915 average.

"During the next four years, farm prices in California declined to a level about 40 per cent above the July 1910 June 1915 average. This level was maintained until 1929, when prices began to fall rapidly.

"In California, average farm prices in the year beginning July 1, 1932 were 34 per cent below the 1910-1915 level. In this same period, farm prices for the United States as a whole were 44 per cent below the 1910-1915 average.

"Farm prices in California tend to lag behind the United States prices in both upward and downward price movements. This is due principally to the character of commodities produced in the two areas. The U. S. index is weighted heavily with the staple products, such as wheat, cotton, corn, hogs and cattle. Staple food products are usually affected first in the general rise and fall of prices. The California index includes many specialty crops."

BOLT AND NUT ARE USED IN PLACE OF COLLAR BUTTON

POCATELLO, Idaho.— Oct. 5 U.P. A stove bolt and nut, used as a collar buton by Jack Burnett, sincej March 1894, caused no little excitement at the Baunock County Jail—when it was lost.

Burnett, a contractor furnishing meals to prisoners, said he started wearing it when as a stove saleman at Alamosa, Colo., he lost his regular buton.

"Everbody knows me by it. I had to have it back," he exclaimed as it was recovered.

FEDERAL HHOME LOANS DISAPPOINT VETERANS

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 2.—(UP)— ornia war veterans expecting the federal home loan act to aid in saving their delinquent homes, purchased through the state veterans welfare board, are headed for disappointment.

An opinion from Attorney General U. S. Webb asserted the veterans board does not possess authority to accept the federal home loan bonds in lieu of cash as settlement and payment of the balance due from delinquent veterans.

The opinion was given in response to a query from John P. Brennan, chairman of the veterans' board.

Riley Forecasts Rise In State Land Values

RIVERSIDE, Oct. 5—Prediction that California will "come back," economically, much more rapidly—and more substantially—than virtually any other state in the nation was made here today by State Controller Ray L. Riley in an address before the annual convention of the California State Real Estate Association.

Noted for his conservatism, the controller predicted his message of optimism on the fact that California's municipal, district and state securities have already bounded back to a premier position, due to great improvement in the state's credit rating, and that "an improvement in the price of such securities inevitably brings with it an improvement in land values."

California is a landed state, Controller Riley emphasized, and is unlike the manufacturing states of the East in that its prosperity, or lack of prosperity, is dictated by profits of the land—both rural and urban.

CALIFORNIA SECURITIES

Linking cause and effect, the controller declared that California's enviable position as "one of the most solvent states in the Union" is due to the fact that California voters had "the courage and intelligence to put their house in order by reaching the exorbitant and impossible tax burden on common property which threatened ruin to the state's credit and its business and industry alike."

"The sales tax, which has made possible this relief to the property owner, may be an annoyance and an irritation at times," said Controller Riley, "but it has made us a healthy state, financially, at a period when hundreds of governments are struggling with all the evils of insolvency and ruined credit. Before the enactment of Proposition Number 1, of the Riley-Stewart Plan as it is commonly called, we had pursued the foolish policy of killing the goose that laid the golden egg. Today we are on the road to a come-back because we have made it possible for land, which is the foundation of our California wealth, to pay its bills and, perhaps, earn a profit. That is sound and reasonable, even though our cure may not be all we would like it to be. At least, it was the best cure available and it will bring even greater indirect benefits than the immediate and direct benefits of property tax reduction."

NO TAX STRIKE

Controller Riley spoke, in part, as follows:

"The vital factor is this: California today has a solvent government—a government whose securities are in demand throughout the United States. It has a school system which is functioning. It has avoided a tax strike which might very well have closed our public schools. It has averted the confiscation of thousands of homes and farms. It has precluded bankruptcy in hundreds of businesses where taxes, under the old system, were gradually forcing the business men to the wall.

"And what is the situation elsewhere? To cite a few examples—In Ohio more than half the schools failed to open for the new term—for lack of funds. In Michigan, also, hundreds of schools are closed and many communities are bankrupt, because property taxpayers simply could not and would not pay the exorbitant burden foisted upon them.

OREGON'S PLIGHT

"To appreciate California's position it might be well to consider the plight of our neighboring state, Oregon. A few months ago Oregon voted against the sales tax—almost at the identical time California adopted the Riley-Stewart Plan to relieve property. And in Oregon today more than 45 per cent of all taxes are delinquent!"

Tracing the effect of California's property tax reduction on securities and business, the Controller continued:

"Prior to the adoption of Proposition Number 1, no market existed in the East for our municipal, district and state securities; they had been refused as collateral for savings banks in the city of New York, which city more or less dictates the security market in the United States.

"But almost immediately following the adoption of Proposition No. 1, with its relief for the property owner, issues of California securities were absorbed in the Eastern market. The attractiveness of these securities heightened tremendously and today only some of the larger issues are available, with even these being rapidly absorbed.

LAND VALUES RISE

"This new condition of basic soundness—of solvency—is of vast importance. An improvement in the price of California securities brings with it land value appreciation. Sound securities mean sound land values and I am exceedingly confident that California is on the way back to normal values.

"To California, more than most states, land values determine the measure of our prosperity. This state, basically, is a landed state; it is not a manufacturing state. Land is the chief source of employment in California. Our profits—and profits are the line of demarcation between depression and prosperity—come from the land and industries of the land.

"By reducing the excessive tax burden on land, we have made it attractive again, both to our own people and to out-of-state investors. That means money in circulation; employment for unemployed and business to supplant business stagnation. Our securities show the trend; they have been the first state securities to come back. And California business, I sincerely believe, will be the first business to come back."

STORK FAVORITE BIRD ON FARMS

By MELVIN LORD

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 2—(UP)—The "back to the farm" movement is so all-inclusive that even the state's brand new babies have taken it up.

While birth rates have increased steadily in the rural districts and small cities, the opposite is true in the centers of population, according to records of the state department of public health.

A report issued by Dr. Giles S. Porter, director of the department, shows that births for the first half of 1933 totaled 37,098 for he state as compared to 38,091 for the first six months of 1932, a decrease of approximately 1,000 births.

For the first half periods, Nevada county reported 65 births in 1933 as compared to 69 in 1932.

The city of San Diego was the largest city in the state to report a gain in the number of babies born since January 1.

"An analysis of births by races indicates that conspicuous reductions are occurring in the number of births among foreign-born races. The percentage of white births increased during the first six months of the year, totaling 79.5 per cent of all births, while last year this percentage was 78.5" Dr. Porter said.

"During this period Mexican births in the state dropped almost 1 per cent. Similar decreases are noted among Japanese and Chinese, while the proportion of Negro births remains the same. Increases occurred among Indians."

E. B. Dudley, chairman of the Board of Supervisors of North Bloomfield, and Joe Frank of Rough and Ready and Alex Robertson of Hobart Mills have returned to their homes.

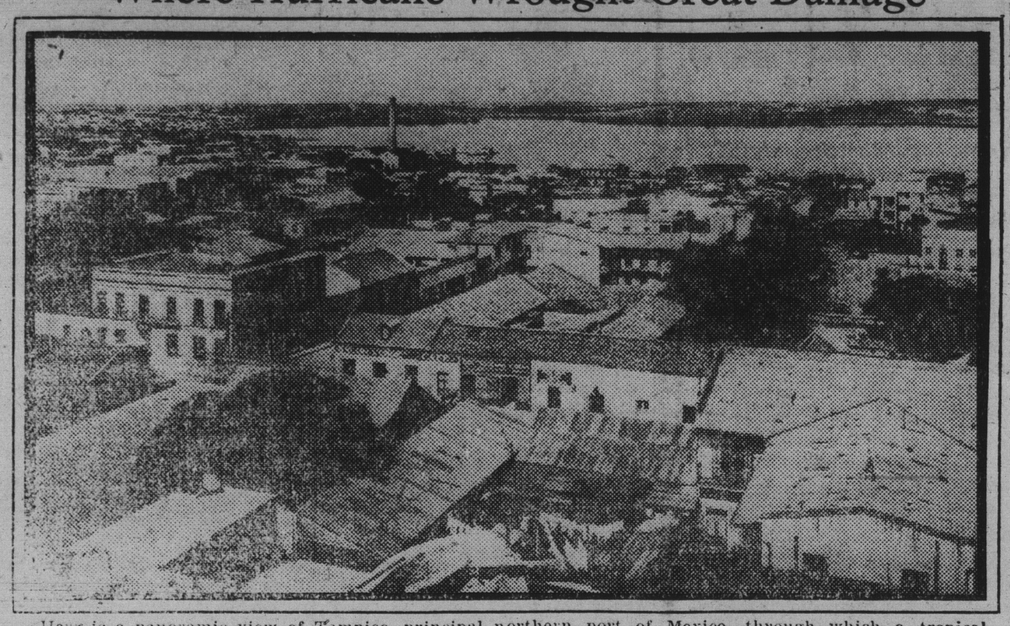
Where Hurricane Wrought Great Damage



Here is a panoramic view of Tampico, principal northern port of Mexico, through which a tropical hurricane raged at a speed estimated at 125 miles per hour, causing great loss of life and enormous property damage. A tidal wave ushered in by the hurricane flooded territory in and around Tampico, in some places to a depth of 10 feet.

NATIVE SONS LEASE CORNER PROPERTY

The property belonging to the Native Sons, at the northeast corner of Pine and Commercial, streets, has been leased. The lower portion of the building will be used for a pool hall. Men were busy yesterday cleaning the place up for occupancy.

James Penrose was a business visitor in Los Angeles this week. He was glad to get back to Nevada City.

C. C. C. CAMPS MOVING TO LOWER ALTITUDES

Bear Valley, North Bloomfield and Sattley C. C. C. camps have not yet been changed from summer to winter quarters at lower altitudes, Forest Supervisor R. L. P. Bigelow yesterday stated, but Bakers, Oak and Miller's ranch camps have lost most of their population, the boys being sent, in most cases to the big winter camp in Lake county. New recruits for the camps that remain or have been re-located at lower altitudes in the Tahoe National Forest Area are expected to begin arriving on October 15.

RIVER PLACERS MINE EXTRACTING GOOD ORE

M. Hughes and partner, leasers of the River Placers Ltd., on the south Yuba river just below and adjoining the Delhi property, have struck the bottom of the ancient river channel and are taking out good values in the gravel.

Recently the company took out $800 in gold in a four day's run, it is reported. Eighteen men are employed at this gravel property.

Mrs. Poorman and son, Edward, the latter a business man of San Jacinto, Riverside county, are owners of the property.

SHAFT DOWN 135 FEET IN OMEGA QUARTZ MINE

Lee Hunt and Edward Foley, who are sinking a shaft on the Omega quartz mine in the Willow Valley district, are now down 135 feet.

The ledge they are sinking on is two feet wide. The ore shows promise but is hard to work. About two weeks ago the boys sent one mill run of ore to the Queen Lil mill, located at the western limits of Nevada City.

Hunt and Foley are installing a compressor this week and will make more rapid progress in their work.

The property which lies across from the famous old Murchie mine on Deer Creek, is not for sale. Hunt and Foley started opening the property early this spring and have made good progress.

RADIO SPEAKER WILL TALK IN NEVADA CITY

Dr. Phillips, a Baptist minister of Oakland, who speaks over station KTAB each Sunday morning, will be in Nevada City Tuesday afternoon and deliver an address at the Methodist church.

As Mr. Phillips is not able to leave Oakland on Sundays he will come hree Monday going to Downieville, where he will speak that evening, returning here for the afternoon Tuesday and then speak in the Methodist church in Grass Valley Tuesday evening.

All those who have had the pleasure of listening to Dr. Phillips on the radio should attend Tuesday's meeting to hear him talk in person.

Our county now is on her way,
Which causes no surprise;
And we will laud her name and fame
If we are truly wise;
Dame Nature made her fair and great,
And we with pride should mold her fate.

If L. A. had our rivers
Our mines and wooded hills,
If L. A. had our scenery,
Our lakes, and rippling rills,
She'd blow her horn with such a roar,
It would resound from shore to shore.

So let's not be too modest,
Let's do as others do,
Let's sum up our advantages,
And blow our bugles too;
Our country now is on her way,
This surely is her lucky day.

Building confidence in our city and adjoining territory this fall, positively exceeds that of last year.

There being both a desire and need for increased building, reflects added interest in our community
